STARTS SUBSCRIPTION

For Automobile for Health League To Be Used By Miss Casey as Nurse

Thursday afternoon Miss Casey, trained nurse for the Mason County Health League, was notified by Attorney James M. Collins, that he was ready and willing to subscribe $5 toward purchasing a runabout automobile for the use of the Health League.

This is a most commendable move on the part of Mr. Collins, and The Ledger thinks so much of it that we herewith add $2 to this subscription list and $1 more from "De Nuzie."

This makes $8 toward the automobile for Miss Casey. Who will make further donations? The Ledger will receive your donations for this laudable purpose and will see that the money is turned over to the right person for dispensation. Help the worthy cause.

CHURCH OFFICERS MEET

Tonight the Christiana Church officers meet in regular session. As the minister has several important matters to consider relative to taking an advance step in the work being done all the members are urged to be present at 7:15.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Ellis, accompanied by the latter's mother, Mrs. Ryder, are spending the week end in Cincinnati.

"DE NUZIE"

Opening is Great Success—Throughs
Visit Maysville's Popular
Book Store

On yesterday, "De Nuzie," Maysville's popular book store, held the formal opening of its new home, and from early morning until the close, late last night, this attractive new store was crowded with many friends and patrons, each of whom received a souvenir.

Between the hours of two and five in the afternoon, and seven and nine in the evening there were pianola-player selections rendered by an expert of the Aeolian Company on one of their finest instruments which added to the attractiveness of the event, and fortunate were those who chanced to be present during the several beautiful selections so sweetly sung by Miss Bona Fitzgerald and Mrs. Lud Hamilton.

Several years ago Mr. C. E. Dieterich opened a book and stationery store on Market street, and while the beginning was a very modest one, the business began to grow from the first, and steadily increased, until it became evident that the first store could no longer accommodate the extensive business.

The new home is a light, airy room with the stock and fixtures arranged to best advantage for the convenience and accommodation of the patrons. The large and complete stock is conveniently arranged on the shelves along the walls and the latest addition glass-top and sides contain many articles of artistic beauty as well as sound usefulness. A minute and realistic description of this store could but do partial justice to its real appearance and it must be seen to be appreciated.

June 3rd, 1915, will prove an epoch in the history of "De Nuzie" and the large crowd that attended the event is a just tribute to Mr. Dieterich and his competent and efficient assistants. His many friends congratulate him and wish continued success and prosperity to Maysville's Popular Book and Gift store.

TEACHER RESIGNS

The Board of Education are at a loss to find a successor to Miss Hilda Threlkeld, head of the English Department of Maysville High School. Her resignation will go into effect at the end of the present school term. Miss Threlkeld has been in the Maysville High School as the head of the English Department for the past five years during which time she has given entire satisfaction to the Board and is extremely popular with the scholars. Miss Threlkeld will accept a position in a southern institution of learning and her absence will be a loss to her many friends as well as to the school.

Mr. Thomas Wallace returned home last evening after spending the past year at the Ohio Mechanics' Institute.

FISCAL COURT MEETS

And Transacts Business of Importance on Thursday

The Mason County Fiscal Court met on Thursday with County Judge W. H. Rice presiding and a full attendance, with the exception of Esquire Collier.

Following is an extract from the minutes of the Court:

Ordered that the bridges on the Mt. Carmel pike be repaired in connection with the State. This motion was turned over to the Turn Pike Advisory Board with power to act.

Ordered that the balance of $507.30 on the Whisky Tax receipts be turned over by the County Treasurer to the General Claims Fund.

Ordered that a committee composed of Esquires Bullock, Lane and Moore go over the four main roads to the county seat with an engineer, on an inspection tour, to estimate the amount of money needed to make repairs on these roads, and to make efforts to obtain State help in securing funds for the repair of the roads, and to obtain the levy set aside for Mason county by the State for the fiscal year 1915.

Ordered that the following sums be allowed:

William Wilson as road commissioner, 4.00.

J. B. Furlong as road commissioner, $4.00.

Scott Flecher as road commissioner, $6.00.

L. M. Collis, as surveyor, $25.00.

Edward Bullock, service as custodian of some children taken to Louisville, $10.88.

Court adjourned till June 22, 1915.

W. H. RICE, County Judge.

RAISES TAXES

$1.55 Decided Upon as Tax Levy For Easing Year

Thursday afternoon in the Council Chamber, the Mayor, City Attorney and City Clerk, Ways and Means Committee and some of the bankers of the city, met to decide upon a proper levy for the city for the ensuing year. After much discussion it was finally decided to place a levy of $1.55 on each hundred dollars worth of taxable property in Maysville, and of this levy the City will receive for running expenses 75c, the schools 50c, and 30c will be applied to the bond fund. This rate is 15c higher than last year but is still insufficient to meet all the expenses of the city and there will be a deficit of about $3,500.

While the Board of Supervisors did raise the valuation about $35,000 this is not enough, and in the fall another meeting will be held at which another raise will be necessary to bring the amount of taxes up to the running expenses.

RECITAL

Given By Epworth League of Second
M. E. Church Last Night a
Profound Success

The recital given under the auspices of the Epworth League of the Second M. E. Church, South, last night was a decided success in every way. Each number was good and the vocal solos were especially worthy of mention, as quite a bit of talent was shown.

The piano solos by Messrs. Stickle and Curry were well rendered and showed much careful study and preparation.

The readings by Mrs. Dawson, Misses Simpson, Tully and Willett were the equal of, if not superior to, any amateur renditions ever heard in this city.

The last number on the program, a male quartette arrangement of "The Garden of Roses," was very popular. In fact, we might say the most popular of the entire program, to judge from the applause. The voices were all of good quality and blended well, producing harmonic effects of which professionals might well be envious. All in all, the program was a rare treat, and well worth the while of those who were fortunate enough to hear it.

CONSTRUCT SEWERS IN ADVANCE OF PAVING

On yesterday, there appeared in the news items, an account of a rumor that certain of the residents of East Second street were preparing to enjoin the laying of the brick pavement on that street until after a proper and adequate sewer system had been installed, and should such a movement materialize, the position assumed by these residents must meet with general approval, whether they have a legal right to an injunction or not.

That a sewerage system should be constructed in the East End, which will properly take care of the present and future needs of that section, no one will deny, for, from the Limestone bridge east there are many parts of the city that have no sewers at all, and where the pipes have been laid, they are barely large enough to take care of present needs much less the increased demands which must necessarily be made upon them, as that section builds up and increases in population.

Not only should such a system be constructed, but that, sooner or later, it will have to be done needs no argument, and certainly any sewerage system, that will properly take care of the needs of the East End, must contemplate the laying of a sewer pipe along Second street, practically from the Limestone bridge to the car barn.

If, therefore, Second street is paved before the sewer system is installed, it will, in a short time, become necessary to tear up the pavement to lay the pipes, which will cost a great deal more than if they were laid in advance of the pavement, and such procedure, making patch work of the surface of the street, will greatly impair its durability and add to the cost of maintenance.

Let it be understood that we are not opposing the brick streets, for it is quite well known that we have always favored them, as we favor every undertaking for the improvement and progress of Maysville, but we are unalterably opposed to the tearing it up to install a sewerage system, which is so plainly necessary and inevitable before the paving is begun, and we submit the inconsistency of the council telling us in one breath, that it can not afford to provide for the disposal of the city's garbage, and in the next, indulging in the wasteful extravagance of ordering the paving of a street which, they must know, will have to be torn up to provide for a necessity, and relaid at additional expense.

The city council saw the wisdom of providing for the adjustment and relaying of the street car tracks in advance of the paving, and it is to be hoped that they will likewise see the necessity of previously constructing the sewers.

A woman can not be trusted with the ballot. She is undependable. Whereupon dependable, consistent man spends millions to fight disease and prolong life—and just as many more millions in manufacturing deadly missiles to destroy life.

Strange how a woman fancies that the man who loves her can read her like a book; whereas if he admires the binding he is always perfectly willing to take the rest on faith.

Fame is a humorous lady, who places a laurel wreath on your head with one hand while she pins an April Fool sign on your back with the other.

Love is a sort of chili sandwich affair, composed of large slices of selfishness, a thin layer of sentiment and a filling of highly spiced imagination.

The crops are reported in splendid condition, and all ready to supply a feast to the swarms of insect pests that are increasing in all sections.

Why is it that when a woman says "I respect my husband," it always makes us feel a little sorry for him?

Isn't it strange that a little wad of hay with a few tissue flowers attached costs so much?

The word "stylish" covers a multitude of offenses against good taste.

Some stingy people can give offense and never miss it.

More Precious Than Life.

One American with the legion was telling me of a Zouave battalion that was fighting in the same part of the line with him, and at a charge of the Zouaves the commandment suddenly cried out, "Lie down," as a hail of German shells came over them. They all dropped but one.

"Non de Dieu, lie down!" the lieutenant colonel called out, furiously, to the one man.

This Zouave tapped his large pocket and called back to his chief.

SUBMARINE SINKS TWO MORE SHIPS

London, June 2.—The British steamer Saidieh, from Alexandria, Egypt, for Liverpool, was torpedoed yesterday in the North sea. Seven members of the crew, including a stewardess, were drowned. Forty-one survivors were landed today at Chatham.

The Danish steamship Soborg, a vessel of 2108 tons, has been torpedoed by a German submarine in the North sea. The attack was made 65 miles off Longstone.

The Soborg sailed from Copenhagen. She was 280 feet long and 43 feet wide. She was built in 1899.

The Danish steamer Ajax, bound from Scotland for Koge with a cargo of coal today, was captured by a German destroyer. The ship was seized in Koge bay, which is Danish sea territory, and was taken to a German port.

Mr. Stevens is only one of many Maysville people who have gratefully endorsed Doan's Kidney Pills. THE BED ROOM

To often the bed room is considered as just a place to sleep; a part of the house that does not require any special attention as to lighting because it is seen only by members of the family.

Yet correct lighting arrangement—the installation of harmonious chandeliers, in a manner to give effective illumination—will make this one of the most used rooms of the whole house—a cozy home in itself.

By the use of a simple, but graceful chandelier in the center of the room, and two or more wall brackets of harmonious design, the bedroom is fitted to serve as a study or sewing room.

Then, too, a wall bracket placed at each side of the dresser adds much to the ease and pleasure of dressing. Only when she has a perfect light by which to make her toilet can Milady be absolutely certain that every little detail is as it should be.

LOVES OF GREAT AMERICANS

Thomas Jefferson and "The Girl Widow"

He was a lean, freckled, sandy-haired lawyer and planter. She was known as "the girl widow." And she was not only pretty, but had an enormously rich father.

He was Thomas Jefferson, one day to become author of the Declaration, President of the United States, Father of Democracy. She was Martha Skelton, daughter of Counsellor John Wayles and widow of Bathurst Skelton. When they met she was twenty-one and Jefferson was twenty-six. That was in 1770.

Jefferson, like Washington, "had over an eye for a fine woman." As a young man he was forever falling in love and out of it again. For example, he proposed to Susan Burwell, a Williamsburg, Va., beauty, whom he always spoke of as "Belinda." He asked her to be his wife and coupled his proposal with the remark that he was in no great hurry to marry, but that he would be glad to wed Susan on his return from an indefinitely long trip to Europe. She angrily rejected this luke-warm avowal and soon afterward married another man.

A Musical Wooing
It was while his oft-battered heart was healing from this wound that Jefferson met Martha Skelton. Theirs was no whirlwind courtship. The wooing lasted two years, from 1770 to 1772. He had plenty of rivals, for Martha was wonderfully attractive, nor did her father's wealth lessen her charm.

But Jefferson had one great advantage over all other suitors. He was musical. They were not. And Mrs. Skelton was musical-mad. She had a fine voice and played divinely on the spinet (the piano's harp-like parent), and she carved little for people who could not produce melody. Jefferson had a magnificent voice, and he played the violin better than could any other man in Virginia. It was a musical wooing.

Here is a story told in Virginia: Two men who were courting Mrs. Skelton met by chance in front of her home one day. Each had come thither to ask her to marry him. As they mounted the steps of the house they heard the strains of music through the open drawing room window.

Jefferson and Mrs. Skelton were singing a duet, accompanying themselves on the spinet and the violin. The two callers listened for a few moments, then glanced at each other in sudden understanding, turned around and without a word walked away. They said afterward they had realized then and there that none but acknowledged lovers could sing together in such matchless sympathetic harmony. Jefferson and Mrs. Skelton began the year 1772 auspiciously by marrying on New Year's Day. They were married.

at the house of Martha's father. Jefferson, in his delight over the occasion, spent money left and right. He gave the clergyman a big fee, overpaid the musicians, tipped the servants and—ran out of money before the festivities were half over and had to borrow back a fee he had given the clergyman.

Then the bride and groom set out in a traveling coach for Jefferson's 5,000-acre Monticello plantation. The weather was bitter cold and a snowstorm was raging. The snow at last grew so deep that the coach broke down. Jefferson and Martha finished the journey on horseback. They reached Monticello at dead of night, worn out and half frozen.

Of all the plantation's fifty-two negro slaves not one was present to welcome them. Not expecting their master to return until the next day all the servants had retired to their cabins for the night. The big house was deserted, fireless and without lights. It was a gloomy homecoming, the more so since the famished couple could find no food and were forced to make their housewarming feast on a half bottle of stale wine that Jefferson discovered behind a row of books in his library.

Yet the union so cheerlessly begun was destined to be very happy. About a year later Martha's father obligingly died, leaving his huge fortune to his daughter. For ten years the Jeffersons lived together in ideal content, mutually devoted. Then, in 1782, at the close of the Revolution, Martha died—long before her husband reached the pinnacle of his world-greatness, but perhaps not too soon to foresee something of the wonderful future that lay ahead of him.

ITALIANS' ADVANCE NOT CHECKED BY AUSTRIANS

Rome, June 2.—An official statement issued tonight says:

"The Italians are advancing in the Giudicaria valley, in the Trentino, and have occupied the important position of Storajoining, a strong Alpine detachment which previously had occupied the Cafaro and Canonica valley.

"On the Carnian frontier Italian artillery prevented the Austrians from fortifying the shores of the river at Prebil.

"On the Friulian frontier the Italians occupied Montenero, near Tolmino, repulsing repeated Austrian counter attacks."

GOOD HOUSEKEEPING IS THE ROAD TO ECONOMY.

By Henrietta D. Grauel
Maple and honey are the sweetest sweets we have as well as the most wholesome when they are as pure as Nature intended them to be. Honey is honey as long as it remains in the comb but when it is extracted there is always a possibility that some adulterant has been added. Sometimes comb honey has a heavy body and again it is quite thin, but this in no way affects its quality. The difference in thickness is caused by the season when it is made; very wet weather modifies the nectar of the flowers, and how can the bees help that?

There is a variety of colors in honey, too, clover gives the whitest and sweetest but buckwheat, raspberry and golden rod and aster blooms all have fine flavors, so why insist on whiteness?

Insist, rather, on purity and refuse to buy honey from cans. Extracted honey is often sold so, by pint or quart, and if the pure food label is not on the original container be very sure the bees had but a small part in its manufacture.

After having secured real "farm" honey keep it in a dry place—honey absorbs moisture. In a damp cellar the delicate whitecaps become dark and water gathers on them and finally the sweet turns sour and is ruined. Wherever salt will remain dry is a good place to store it, a kitchen cupboard or a garret is safe and suitable. If it caudies, put it in a dish or pan and heat it. The wax will rise to the top when it is cold again and may be lifted off and the flavor of the honey will be like the fresh article. But there are worse things than caudied honey, young folks always like it best so.

Honey cakes:—One pint heated honey, comb and all, one cup sugar, one-half cup butter, a little nutmeg and a pinch of salt. Beat yolks of two eggs and mix with above, add flour to permit rolling and bake quickly.

If you have maple syrup remaining from last season use it as soon as possible; unlike honey, it will not keep indefinitely, but sours from too much heat. Maple sugar never spoils if kept dry.

Maple custard pie is a good medium to use it in:—Break or grate one-half pound maple sugar or use one pint of maple syrup and mix it with the yolk of three eggs and beat it until light. Dissolve one tablespoon of corn-starch in cold water and add it to one cup of milk, season with lemon juice and cook until the mixture thickens, stirring all the time. Pour into baked pastry shells and finish with the whites of the eggs beaten and sweetened for the meringue.

WOMAN COULD NOT SIT UP

Now Does Her Own Work.
Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Helped Her.

Ironton, Ohio.—"I am enjoying better health now than I have for twelve years. When I began to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I could not sit up. I had female troubles and was very nervous. I used the remedies a year and I can do my work and for the last eight months I have worked for other women, too. I cannot praise Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound enough for I know I never would have been as well if I had not taken it and I recommend it to suffering women."

Daughter Helped Also.
"I gave it to my daughter when she was thirteen years old. She was in school and was a nervous wreck, and could not sleep nights. Now she looks so healthy that even the doctor speaks of it. You can publish this letter if you like."—Mrs. RENA BOWMAN, 161 S. 10th Street, Ironton, Ohio.

Why will women continue to suffer day in and day out and drag out a sickly, half-hearted existence, missing three-fourths of the joy of living, when they can find health in Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound?

If you have the slightest doubt that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will help you, write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential) Lynn, Mass., for advice. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.

LEADERS

Told to Unite for Peace or United States Will Take Drastic Measures

Washington, June 2.—President Wilson gave out today his note on the Mexican situation. The President graphically describes the conditions in Mexico by saying that the country "is starving and with out a government."

The President notified the revolutionary leaders that they must get together and set up a constitutional government, or that the United States, in the event of failure, will take whatever steps may be necessary to that end.

The President declares that the government will lend its active moral support to some men or group of men if the warring factions cannot unite.

There is considerable discussion already among officials to the effect that one man who would fill the requirements of the administration can bring order out of chaos in Mexico is General Felipe Angeles.

The president, however, does not disclose either the person or the plans he has in mind in case the suggestions he has made are not carried out by the Mexican leaders. He indicates that results can be accomplished within a very short time.

As pointed out in these dispatches, there is no declaration in the president's note that there will be intervention by armed forces of the United States. The

ITEMS FROM THE DOVER NEWS

H. Sam True, of Louisville, was in this and Lewis counties last week looking over the tobacco prospects, and was the guests of his sisters, Misses Martha and Ruth True while in Dover. Mr. True has also a lot of tobacco in process of redrying in his warehouse here, which is being handled by Mr. J. F. Lewis.

Mr. J. C. Pickett, one of the substantial elderly citizens of the county and a lifelong resident of the Tuckahoe neighborhood, is at present wrestling a very severe case of pneumonia. "Uncle Bit" has the sympathy of a host of friends in his affliction, and the universal hope prevails that he may soon be on the road to recovery.

Mr. Dan Perrine, of Maysville, and Mr. John E. Boulden and daughters, of the county, are attending the Confederate Reunion at Richmond, Va. These are two old Confederate veterans who may be expected at these reunions as long as life lasts. Another old veteran, J. C. Pickett, who generally meets with the boys, is ill with pneumonia at the present time and was unable to go to Richmond.

Seventeen-Year Locusts
According to a report sent out by the government, the seventeen-year locusts will appear in many parts of the country during this summer and fall, but not in such numbers as on former occasions.

There is also a brood of thirteen-year locusts due this year. In giving the localities in which locusts may be expected this year, eastern Kentucky is given as one point that will possibly be infested. From what we hear every year about these pests, they not only come every seventeen years but are so "bred and born" that they appear every year in some section of the United States.

ROUMANIA AND BULGARIA
Ready To Enter Struggle Against Turkey-Austria

Paris, June 2.—Bulgaria and Roumania have arrived at a complete understanding according to a Bucharest dispatch to the Petit Parisien, Roumania, having agreed to cede territory in Dobrudja. The two countries will enter the war simultaneously, the dispatch says, Roumania against Austria and Bulgaria against Turkey. The army staffs of the two powers are said to be busy co-ordinating military plans.

Negotiations between Roumania and Russia over the lines of the Pruth and of Banat are said to be virtually complete. If Russia accepts Roumania's proposals the latter country is declared to be ready to begin hostilities without delay.

REDPATH CHAUTAUQUA

Souvenir Chautauqua programs and other advertising specialties are being distributed by E. S. Nichol, advance man for the Redpath Chautauqua which is to be held here July 1-7. He has placed in the hands of the local committee 1,000 season tickets for the evening program. "For Sale Here" cards have been placed in the business houses where tickets are to be sold.

During the next few days the local committee will wage a strenuous ticket campaign. The coupon books used by the Redpath Company in previous years have been abandoned and the 1915 season ticket is a single piece of hand-somely decorated cardboard, on the commemorative plan.

"Chautauqua Booster" buttons will be given to purchasers of season tickets. These are made up artistically in red and white, and another design has been provided for children identified with the Junior Redpath Club.

Another advance man will arrive here nine days before the Chautauqua. He will remain until the opening day and will distribute Chautauqua hats, window cards, programs, auto pennants, dates and banners, and other advertising matter.

The Chautauqua program, as outlined, reveals an array of brilliant and interesting attractions, and a great week is anticipated.
